NZQA Role and Responsibilities

NZQA's role in the education sector is to ensure that New Zealand qualifications are accepted as credible and robust, nationally and internationally, in order to help learners succeed in their chosen endeavours and to contribute to New Zealand society.

NZQA is responsible for:

- managing the New Zealand Qualifications Framework
- administering the secondary school assessment system
- independent quality assurance of non-university tertiary education providers
- qualifications recognition and standard-setting for some specified unit standards.

Digital Services

- Tertiary Entrance Verification

- New Zealand Record of Achievement

Tertiary Entrance Verification

This application is in use between NZQA, New Zealand Universities and Australian Tertiary Admission Centres and Universities.

It is a digital means for the institutions to check that New Zealand candidates meet the entrance criteria to courses they want to undertake.

It is highly unlikely the service will extend outside of Australia and New Zealand due to the low numbers of New Zealand students enrolling elsewhere.

NZQA Role and Responsibilities

NZQA's role in the education sector is to ensure that New Zealand qualifications are accepted as credible and robust, nationally and internationally, in order to help learners succeed in their chosen endeavours and to contribute to New Zealand society.

NZQA is responsible for:

- managing the New Zealand Qualifications Framework
- administering the secondary school assessment system
- independent quality assurance of non-university tertiary education providers
- qualifications recognition and standard-setting for some specified unit standards.

Digital Services

- Tertiary Entrance Verification
- New Zealand Record of Achievement

This system has students results for years 12 and 13 and goes back to 2004. Results are stable for previous years but are subject to change for the current year in focus until March the following year.

This system is likely to be replaced by APIs over time, we have 1 university in NZ developing an application that aids on boarding students with minimum effort using APIs to extract the required data.

Changes to the Privacy Act in 2020 also make sharing data outside of New Zealand difficult at the moment until such time as the recipient country can demonstrate their Privacy Laws are comparable with New Zealand's. Our law is largely comparable with those in the European Union.

Learners are able to customise the content of the transcript is they wish to. This is limited to deselecting achievement they do not wish to include. There will be a statement at the end of the transcript if they omit any achievement, this will be shown in a later slide.
